

Buddy is a small and useful piece of furniture that could be placed anywhere within a space and in many different environments. A little server that could act as an occasional object besides a sofa, but also as a free standing solitary piece in a hallway. Its high edge to the surface of the top, resulting in a bowl-like shape, makes all the difference.

It gives the opportunity to not only place things on top, but also to keep items inside, which makes the object multi-functional and create a new typology. The solid wood base contrasts with the cold metal surface of the aluminium bowl, adding a warm filigree character to the object and creates an iconic and graceful appearance.

Developed in Sweden, Buddy is available in two sizes and six different colour ways, and feel just as at home in the grand hotel lobby as in the austere furnished creative studio.

Through comprehensive testing, each component has been optimized for its specific purpose in order to ensure longevity and resistance to wear and tear.

With its rounded aluminum bowl and ash wood tripod, Buddy has a distinct and inviting appearance giving it a clear and amiable presence in any environment.

Like all products from Markus Form, Buddy features the highest level of craftsmanship and finish, always in the best available materials.
